MONDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1908.

Lincoln Steffens now announces that Francis J. Heney is a Democrat. As yet we have failed to hear that the Democratic party claimed him.

W. J. Bryan was unanimously endorsed for the Presidential nomination at a joint caucus of the Democratic members of the West Virginia Senate and House of Delegates.

Candidates for offices should not put off announcing themselves, in justice to their friends, who would be placed in an awkward position by pledging their support to someone else.

At a meeting of the city and county Republican Central Committee held in Portland, it was decided to hold a caucus of representatives from each precinct. It is expected that a platform will be adopted, but no candidates endorsed.

The Senate interstate commerce committee has set February 7 for commencement of the hearings on the part of the railroads opposing Senator Fulton's amendment to the rate law. A large number of railroads have applied to be heard.

The flag of the American man-of-war Chesapeake, captured in the fight with the British ship Shannon in 1812, was sold at auction in London to a dealer named Partridge, for $4260. It is said Partridge is acting for Cornelius Vanderbilt. It was in the fight between the Chesapeake and Shannon that the brave Captain Lawrence gave to his subordinates the injunction, "Don't give up the ship," that has since been the motto of the American navy.

An interesting feature of the meeting of the Union Republican Club in Portland was the denouncement of statement No. 1 by State Senator Hodson, after it had been emphatically upheld by Mr. Cake. Mr. Cake, who has announced his candidacy for the United States Senate, indorsed statement No. 1 without reserve. At the conclusion of his speech Mr. Hodson declared that he would not vote for or support in the primaries any candidate who endorsed that statement, but would vote for republican nominees. Mr. Cake admitted that the primary law is defective and declared that he was in favor of having it amended. Senator Hodson's speech at the conclusion of Mr. Cake's address made a decided impression.

Heney is beginning to "side step" and is telling the public that he never had any personal feeling against Fulton, but that when he came to Oregon he determined to tell the people, before he left, what he had learned about the politicians, such matter as, he admits, cannot be used in the trials. Any charge against a United States Senator is a serious matter. It is not only a reflection on the good name of the man himself, but, if proven, a disgrace to the state. If our Senator is guilty of a crime the people of the state should demand the proof, but if Heney simply comes here to peddle "political dope" for the purpose of injuring Fulton's chances of reelection, he should be prosecuted and there would be no punishment to follow.
